BECKONS

FRIENDS GATHER AT POST 390, FOR THE START OF A FALL WEDDING WEEKEND IN BOSTON, TO SHARE GOOD TIMES, GREAT FOOD AND SOME LITTLE KNOWN FUN FACTS ABOUT THE CITY AND THE COMMONWEALTH, BEYOND ITS HIS-TORIC PAST AND THOSE FAMOUS BAKED BEANS.

HIGHLIGHTS

There is a lot more to Boston than baseball, baked beans, Paul Revere and artisanal beer and so this wedding weekend Welcome Party offered visiting guests a chance to brush up on a wealth of not-so-common fun facts about the city as they prepared for their event-filled stay in Beantown. Post 390 played host for the intimate evening, featuring some of their in-house specialties in addition to some tongue-in-cheek offerings that referenced Boston's famed history. Guests enjoyed Rose Kennedy Cocktails, One if By Land, Two if by Sea appetizers and after dinner, Irish coffee and Boston cream pie. At the end of the evening everyone was given a canvas tote filled with local novelties and a few fun keepsakes to commemorate the special weekend and of course, a bag of those famous baked beans.

this page: 1 | Invitations designed with a nod to the host city's hallowed history and period style. Calligraphy by Sharon Morgera. 2 | A keepsake gift, wrapped in a vintage reproduction map of Boston, also served as a place card for each guest. 3 | Guests were greeted with a Rose Kennedy. This tribute to the legendary family matriarch consists of vodka, soda and a splash of cranberry (the official berry of Massachusetts). 4 | A Post 390 salad of chilled Scituate lobster with mango, radish, pea greens and Thai basil. 5 | A nautical canvas gift tote from Flippin' Out is filled with some local favorites and a hand-drawn map of some of Boston's most iconic landmarks. Custom map designed by Sharon Morgera. 6 | Referencing Paul Revere's famous ride, Post 390 cleverly created a One if by Land appetizer of house-cured duck prosciutto, honey whipped mascarpone and mission fig profiterole. 7 | Partygoers left their John Hancock and well wishes for the happy couple on a fun parchment scroll guest register. opposite: A spectacular fall floral arrangement from Artistic Blossoms graced the intimate fireside dinner in Post 390's private dining room. Table linen from Table Toppers. Tableware and napkins from Peterson Party Center.
